Coming in Fall 2012

Volume 20, Issue 2

Our Newsletter is Back!

Our newsletter is back! (It's good to see you too!) We are resuming publication in Fall 2012 so look for us sometime in late August – early September. Since it has been a while, we wanted to invite your questions and also answer a few that you may be thinking of, before we officially go to 'print.'

I would like to publish something in the newsletter, who do I contact?

If you are interested in writing an article for the newsletter please email Karen Eberwein at info@keberwein.com.

How often and when will the MAGPS News be published?

The newsletter will be published the same as in the past—twice a year, every Fall and Spring.

How do I advertise my business or simply write a general announcement in it?

In addition to helping us be more connected, MAGPS News may be a good way to get the word out about your achievements, practice, groups, or organization's continuing education events. Click 'here' for information about MEMBER MEMOS, posting general announcements, and for fees and advertising guidelines. Also, you may visit our blog for more information.

Who do I contact if I have any more questions?

Ideally you could post your questions on our listserv or blog for others to read and learn from, but we appreciate you may be uncomfortable doing so. Alternatively, you may email Karen Eberwein at info@keberwein.com.

I'm not a paper person, what other ways can I stay connected? If you would prefer something more interactive and ongoing, check out our blog. Here you can view MAGPS News articles before they go to press and, also comment on something you have read—What do you think? Additionally, for current organizational information that will come directly to you, you may read or post comments on our membership's email listserv or check out our facebook page. Also, keep an eye out for us on Linked in—we'll be there soon too.
